CHILD SEEKS DEATH

Little Girl Drinks a Bottle of Ink

STOMACH PUMP SAVES HER

Grocer Refuses Credit Whereupon She Drinks the Ink After Scribbling a Farewell Note to Her Mother--Astonished Grocer Acts Promptly.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Fearful of her mother's anger at the refusal of the butcher and the grocer to trust her for articles she was sent after, eleven year old Louise Jansen made an attempt to end her life last night thinking that would be the easiest way out of her troubles.

From the counter at which she food when refused, the little child took a piece of brown wrapping paper and hastily scribbled a note to her mother telling her that she was dead, and that she was very sorry thereat. She said that she did it because the butcher and the grocer would not trust her for the things she was sent after and that she was bad, she knew, but hoped her mother would forgive her. After handing the note to the grocer with a request to have it delivered to her mama, the child hastily swallowed the remainder of the contents of the ink bottle the grocer had provided her with. The astonished grocer had her taken at once to the emergency hospital and the prompt treatment prevented any serious consequences.

It Can't Be Beat.

For stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles it can't be beat. I have tried it and find it a most excellent medicine." Mr. Harden is right; it's the best of all medicines also for weakness, lame back, and all run-down conditions. Best too for chills and malaria. BOYS IN LONG RACE

Relay Event From New York to Chicago

Y. M. C. A. LADS THE RACERS

Distance is About 1000 Miles and Each Boy Will Run With Message One-half Mile, When Another Will Take it and Speed on.

NEW YORK July 15.—Carrying a message of good will from Mayor McClellan to Mayor Basse of Chicago, the start of the longest cross country relay race ever held will be made this morning from City Hall Park.

Boys from 15 to 20 years will make up the team which will convey Gotham's message to her sister city in the Middle West. The boys are members of the Young Men's Christian Association and represent nearly every branch of the Association between the two cities.

The message will be encased in a silver tube, which will be passed from one boy to another at the end of each relay. The youngster who receives the message will run up Broadway half a mile and deliver it to another with it. At that point another eager, fleet-footed youth will be waiting him. In this way the race will continue day and night until Chicago is reached.

The boys will be accompanied by automobiles. In the automobile also will be a relief runner or substitute who will take up the run in case the relay man meets with any kind of an accident. The scheme was first suggested by the boys secretary of the Cleveland Central Branch. A. W. Jameson, secretary of the Twenty-third Street branch in this city, will have charge of the race in the east. The direct mail route to Chicago is 900 miles.

The road to be taken by the boys is estimated at 1,000 miles. There will be nearly 2,000 boys in the race and it is estimated that it will be run on scheduled time.

MEXICAN POLITENESS.

In the State of Michoacan Chivalry is Compulsory.

"If any man opines that the days of chivalry and the true knight errant spirit have gone forever, let him start forthwith on a far southward journey, not halt his steps until he brings up in the town of Morelia, which is the capital of the Mexican state of Michoacan," remarked a traveling man.

"Having arrived in Morelia, he will at once see that the chivalrous spirit still survives. I was down there not long ago, and the gallantry of the men and their extreme readiness to extend courtesies to the fair sex pleased and surprised me. When I noticed the alacrity with which the native males jumped up on the crowded street car to offer their seats to the first senorita that entered, I thought to myself how much more gentlemanly are these Mexicans than many of my own countrymen. They do not wait to see if some other man is going to get up, but each tries to beat the other in courtly proffering his seat to the lady."

"I spoke about the matter to the proprietor of the hotel and immediately he began to laugh. 'You must understand, senor,' said the innkeeper, 'that the governor of our state issued a decree that if any man keep his seat in a street car, thereby compelling a woman to stand, he is liable to arrest and a fine. The police have been instructed to execute this order severely, and I think this has much to do with the prompt politeness of which you speak, since none of our population wishes to become involved with the police and to be publicly branded as lacking in gentility.'"

She Had Red Burns.

The philanthropic lady was visiting a Glasgow slum and had just been ushered into a house where the good wife was engaged washing. Her endeavor was to elevate the minds of the poor, and she asked, "Have you read Burns?"

In answer the good wife bared her brawny arm and displayed a large red mark, saying: "There's wan I got this morn wi' the steam o' the pot bliin' over. But, efter a', a burn's aye red!"

U. S. GETS ONE SILVER MEDAL

LONDON, July 15.—The gold medals went to Great Britain, France and Sweden, as winners of the finals of today's events at the Olympic games. Great Britain was a double winner and France and Sweden each secured one first. The United States had to be satisfied with only one silver medal, a symbolic of second place in the three-mile team race. The American representation in the various events was however small.

A Stubborn Princess. Count de Lendain in his "From Peking to Sikkim," an account of a journey through the Gobi desert and Tibet, tells a story concerning a Mongolian prince which has the traditional Chinese flavor.

He is not, properly speaking, Prince of Alashan, but really Prince of Kokonor. Several years ago he went to Peking to be married. The policy of the Peking court, to that extent wise, consists in marrying to all the Mongol kinglets princesses of the emperor's household, thus binding them to the dynasty by the links of matrimony. The Prince of Kokonor, having married a princess, set out again with his spouse for his distant kingdom. The princess had no liking for this journey and ceaselessly lamented the distance of the country in which she was to live in future. At last, having reached the opening of the Alashan desert, she absolutely refused to go a step farther. The prince in his perplexity sent courtiers to Peking to submit his case and to beg that his spouse might be forced to be reasonable. The reply from Peking was that if the princess refused to go on he must settle in the place where she had stopped, and thus the Prince of Kokonor became Prince of Alashan.
